

Hahnemann Healing Practitioner Training

Hahnemann Healing

Hahnemann Healing is a powerful form of emotional healing. Using light touch, healing energy is directed to specific points on the body to release emotional hurt or pain, improving physical and emotional health. Originally used in Ancient Egypt, Dr Samuel Kristian Hahnemann, the founder of Homoeopathy, brought forward the knowledge for people to heal naturally through energy. Hahnemann Healing is deep, gentle and uplifting. It can form a significant part of a process of change enabling people to move forward in their life, free from emotional blockages.

Accredited training

Hahnemann Healing training will appeal to those people who have an interest in Spirituality and a deep desire to heal others naturally using energy. They will understand the value of healing emotional issues without the use of drugs, and in helping themselves and others to move forward in their lives. This specialised training to become a Hahnemann Healer can be your first step to beginning a new career or can be an invaluable addition to those trained in other healing modalities. The course is fully recognised by the International Institute for Complementary Therapists (IICT) and upon completion you will be able to obtain Professional Indemnity Insurance and establish your new business as an accredited Hahnemann Healer.

Commitment

To become a Hahnemann Healer you are required to attend 6 days of training over a period of 2 months. This allows you time to build your energy and practice your new skills as you develop and grow throughout the course. The annual professional development requirement for re-accreditation is one day, each year. This will be conducted by your training provider and will cost $150 plus the annual re-accreditation fee of $125.
